Our Certified Government Meeting Professional (CGMP) certification is a key part to the solution in helping establish professional standards in government meetings. The CGMP Congress is a returning program exclusively for current CGMP holders.

Many members who are not able to attend the National Education Conference find difficulty securing the minimum number of credits to recertify. The CGMP Congress is another national program that provides the opportunity for members to earn credit toward recertification.

- Participants will earn 8 contact hours of the 15 needed for recertification
- Content will be the latest in industry education, designed especially for the higher-level professionals that hold the CGMP certification.
- Attendees will also have the opportunity to network with one another from a peer-to-peer thought leadership perspective, sharing best practices with one another and thus augmenting the education offered by CGMP Congress speakers.

Don't miss this great opportunity to gain the latest in industry information, as well as networking and earning contact hours.
